

WILDFLOWER SCHOOLS DC

Invest in our Teacher Leaders as they reimagine Montessori learning for students in the DC Metro region!

Wildflower's Montessori microschoools are intentionally small (less than 60 students) and teacher-led with deep family engagement to ensure students of the global majority define their purpose and fulfill their potential. We will train the next wave of Montessori educators to become social entrepreneurs who center equity in their design of classroom sites in wards 4, 5, 7 & 8.

Adaptive Leadership Development

Our School Start-Up Journey and Equity Series will serve as an incubator program and training pathway for Montessori teachers, developing them into social entrepreneurs. Over 12 to 18 months, we will provide training and resources to help these leaders build culturally affirming charter schools across the region.

Investment Needed

$180,000

Montessori Environments for Young Learners

Our toddler programs will fill a critical gap in the number of high quality early childhood programs by building equitable early learning communities grounded in peace, justice, and liberation. We will expose toddlers of the global majority to Montessori learning and serve as a feeder to Pre-K 3 Montessori programs in the DC Metro Area.

Investment Needed

$200,000

Family & Community Engagement

At Wildflower, teachers, families, students & community members are the co-designers of their learning environments and community engagement is our backbone. We will continue to offer experiences and events to connect with local Montessorians from across the city as well as provide families opportunities to see culturally affirming Montessori in action.

Investment Needed

$160,000

Charter Application & Site Launch

DC Wildflower Public Charter School's design team will submit a charter application in January 2021. At capacity, we will serve up to 300 students in classroom sites that immerse students and teachers in social justice and identity-affirming pedagogy with roots in the norms, values and principles of The Wildflower Foundation.

Investment Needed

$500,000
